Hellenic Petroleum chose ATC for developing custom e-Learning material

Hellenic Petroleum SA (HELPE) has chosen Athens Technology Center (ATC) for providing custom content development services for its internal eLearning processes.

Based on the signed agreement which can cover the needs of Hellenic Petroleum for the next three (3) years, ATC is going to support Hellenic Petroleum by designing and developing custom digital educational content for five (5) different course types. The content will be designed and developed on demand, in the form of learning objects, and will comply with SCORM standards.

In addition, ATC will also provide support and maintenance services for the existing open source Learning Management System (Moodle).
